LOS ANGELES, CA--(Marketwire - January 22, 2009) - TVN® Entertainment Corp., the world's largest television on demand company, today announced that they will partner with the nation's third largest operator, Cox Communications, to offer TVN's VOD network "The Karaoke Channel." Cox Digital Cable customers will have access to this service for free, anytime, in the On DEMAND menu. The network, which is a partnership between TVN and Stingray, is now one of the most widely distributed VOD channels, reaching over 27 million subscribers.

Launched in December, this TVN exclusive network has the largest catalog of Karaoke, with over 16,000 tracks, and contains the most up to date songs on VOD today. Cox customers can select from a package of over 300 regularly refreshed titles at any one time to play out in the comfort of their home.

"TVN is excited to be partnering with Cox to bring the fun of Karaoke into its digital cable customers' living rooms," said John R. Smith, Senior Vice President at TVN. "Cox Communications has always been a marketing leader, and The Karaoke Channel provides them with a unique opportunity to highlight its on demand value proposition."

In addition to creating and maintaining nine uniquely branded VOD networks, TVN packages, distributes and manages over 8300 hours of programming from nearly 200 content providers including every major movie studio. TVN's content partners and the company's 130 cable, telco and satellite affiliates are supported by the company's Emmy-nominated asset management system, ADONISS™, which provides unparalleled management control of VOD assets. ADONISS also enables its customers to manage and customize VOD marketing campaigns on a national, regional, or local market basis. Karaoke has consistently been among the highest performing VOD networks for Comcast, Charter, Insight, Rogers, Mediacom, and many other affiliates.
